

This year take your Business English training skills to the next level with Mark Powell and Pete Sharma

THE CERTIFICATE IN INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS ENGLISH TRAINING

accredited by English UK and Trinity College London

at International Languages Institute, Gödöllő, Hungary, Sept 28 – Oct 6, 2010

Whether you are a seasoned Business English professional or an experienced teacher of General English seeking to move into this exciting area, the CERT IBET offers you nine days of workshops, mini-lectures, simulations and team projects to further develop your expertise and boost your repertoire of training room activities – all in the delightful surroundings of ILI's training centre in Gödöllő. The course leader, Mark Powell, author of numerous Business English titles, including In Company and the forthcoming Dynamic Presentations, and keynote speaker at this year's annual BESIG conference, is the course leader. And this year, for the first time, he'll be joined for an extra training day by Pete Sharma, leading teaching-with-technology specialist and author of, amongst other titles, Blended Learning and Networking in English. So included in the highly competitive price of €850 you'll be getting a bonus 'IT day' with one of the best in the business. You'll also take away a 300-page course file, 500MB CD of customizable Business English materials and 5GB DVD of video clips to use in your own training. For participants coming from outside Hungary, we'll be happy to help you investigate your eligibility for EU funding. For further details, visit ILI's website at www.teachertaining.hu or email info@ili.hu.
