BIODATA SPEAKERS:

Michael Swan is a writer specialising in English Language teaching and reference materials. His many publications include Practical English Usage (OUP), the Cambridge English Course series (with Catherine Walter), and, also with Catherine Walter, the Oxford English Grammar Course. Michael's interests include pedagogic grammar, mother-tongue influence in second language acquisition, and the relationship between applied linguistic theory and classroom language-teaching practice. He has written numerous articles on these topics; a selection was published by OUP in 2012 under the title 'Thinking About Language Teaching'. Michael's work is based on his 20 years' teaching experience with adult learners, and his discussions with teachers in many countries.

Catherine Walter is a researcher, teacher educator and materials writer. She is the co-author with Michael Swan of the Oxford English Grammar Course, and the Series Adviser for the forthcoming OUP course series Navigate. Catherine lectures in Applied Linguistics at the University of Oxford, and is the convenor of Oxford's distance MSc in Teaching English Language in University Settings. She is also the Vice Principal of Linacre College, Oxford. In 1993, Catherine became the first female president of IATEFL, and she has remained active in the organisation.
