

CORONA-SUPPORT

YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS AND OPTIONS

A WEBINAR FOR FREELANCE LANGUAGE TEACHERS

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

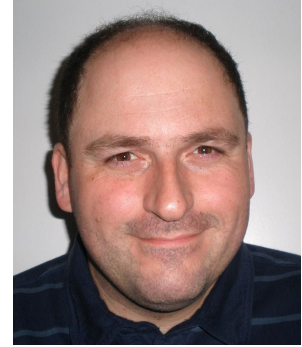

For this webinar, all of Germany's teaching associations have banded together to offer their membership some much-needed support in these uncertain times. Patrick Mustu, a lawyer and language trainer based in Düsseldorf will give a presentation outlining the current situation for freelancers with a specific focus on our industry and your rights as workers. He'll give an overview of the various financial support packages in place in the different Bundesländer and give guidance on how to apply for them.

In addition, you will have the option of asking your own questions: simply add them to this document by Sunday night and they will be addressed in the webinar.

The webinar will be recorded and made available to participants. In addition, Patrick will create an overview of the most important information, which will be shared with members, as well as with non-members who registered for the event.

Patrick Mustu is a lawyer, language trainer and translator based in Düsseldorf. He focuses on providing language training to law and accounting firms. Patrick is a former EULETA (European Legal English Teachers' Association) board member, and the author of various publications, including Cornelsen's "English for Tax Professionals" and MELTA's "Guide for Freelance Language Teachers in Germany".
